It is Wednesday again! Time to get ready for a fun challenge, writing, and hopefully some of my community to share in the process. The Frugal List. For those that have not yet discovered this wonderful site, it is where people document all their money saving ideas and share them with others. It is a great way to learn about others and find new ways to save money and/or become more frugal. If you are interested in joining this challenge and/or just reading what is out there, go to the sidebar on the right and click on Frugal Listing *The rules are simple - write a list of things you have saved or will save money on. It could be anything - a new product, a service, a new tool, time management techniques, whatever comes to mind. At the beginning of each month, check your savings. For example, if you saved $10 on your rent this month, you would include that on your list. Remember that this is a good way to track how you are doing and if you feel the need, you can always make it a challenge. 2. The ultimate goal. The ultimate goal is to achieve financial freedom. No, you did not get caught up in what I meant by that. Let me explain. Frugal for me means more than just being able to buy what I want and spend as much as I want. It also means being able to take care of my family and be able to pass the values I want to the next generation. It means being able to work less in order to do the things I want, and have more time to spend with the ones I love. It means being able 82157476af
